Have you ever encountered an especially happy, successful family and wondered, "Wow, how do they do it?"
"How is it that they have such terrific children?"

Chances are those parents are already doing the kinds of things with their children that Maurice Arthur recommends in this inspiring book. Mr. Arthur has a vision - happy parents effectively raising happy and successful children - and he provides a plan for achieving that vision, whether you are starting out from a place of total family chaos or you just need a little help getting back on track.

In his new book, A Black Man Thinking: Volume One - Raising Children, Mr. Arthur provides basic insights regarding parenting, particularly but not solely for black parents. A Black Man Thinking takes a look at raising children in the information age, and provides concise steps you can take to make a positive difference in the life of a child.

As a parent, you are the most important factor in raising your child, and you are the answer you've been looking for all along. Inside these pages you'll find the knowledge and the attitude to become a better parent.

"This book contains basic principles of parenting that have been successful for generations. These principles worked for my parents and their parents, and they'll work for you."

About the Author
